

Hire Me

.... What could possibly go wrong?

Assessing Hiring Risks and Refining the Selection Process

This one-day course will enable participants to identify the risks to their organisation, people risks and individuals motivation for applying for a particular job, identification of red flags in the hiring process, identification of documents, pre-employment screening best practice and validation of genuine job candidates.

The course is interactive with opportunities to participate and discuss specific areas of interest and is facilitated by experienced trainers.

Exercises will enable participants to consider hiring risks, practical tips when reviewing identity documents and practice red flag CV/application form reviews.

This one-day module is the first of the Hire Me programme courses, the second one day module covers Advanced Interviewing Skills and the third looks at Managing Insider Threats.
